

BEACH PLEA ON COAST HEARD HERE

Lack of Recreation
Spots for Public Declared

ACTION URGED

Other Matters Taken Up Monday; Legality Of Meet Doubted

Acquisition of beach frontages along the San Mateo county coast was urged upon the board of San Mateo County Supervisors Monday in a letter received by Chairman Manuel Francis, Half Moon Bay spokesman.

The letter was written by E. E. Springer to the Santa Cruz Sentinel, and copies were forwarded to the Santa Cruz and San Francisco boards of supervisors and to the state park commission.

It was declared that there is not a single beach along the ocean front between San Francisco and Santa Cruz now open to the public without charge.

The board is urged to secure the frontages as a companion step to the securing of the rights of way on the Ocean Shore boulevard between the coast cities.

The board referred the communication to the county planning commission.

Abandonment of the John Meyn road on the coastline near Montara was voted by the board at the request of Miss Elinor Falvey, attorney representing the Mackay radio interests. The company has moved its radio station from Daly City to the Meyn ranch.

The board approved the unemployment payroll in the sum of $6,298.

Because the board met at 10 instead of 2, the hour to which it had adjourned, a question was raised as to whether the meeting was a legal one or not. No other business was therefore taken up and the board adjourned until 2 p. m. February 6.

Chairman Francis was present after several weeks illness.

Drainage Job At Atherton 67 Pct. Done

ATHERTON, Feb. 1.—The Atherton-Las Lomitas drainage project is now 67 per cent completed, City Clerk Thomas G. Packham informed the council here yesterday. The work is being done under funds provided by the county relief bonds.

Thirteen thousand dollars have so far been spent on the project and $22,000 remains of the first allotment. The ditch in Atherton proper is 82 per cent finished.

20 Years Ago In Redwood City

The dedication of the new Memorial Church at Stanford will take place tomorrow. There will be no tickets of admission issued but the pupils, faculty and workmen will be admitted first, after which those who get in and secure the remaining seats will be admitted. Miss Gertrude Beeger will be one of the sopranos to take part in the dedicatory choir.

Thomas Tuitt, the butcher for T. P. Maloney, is again around.

There is no better investment anywhere at present than building small dwellings for rent in this town. Such houses should not cost to exceed $1000 to $1200. The land should cost not more than $300 to $500 additional. An investment of $1200 to $1600 will pay an annual return gross of $120 to $144. This means good investment to say nothing of the enhancement in the value of real estate.

Senator Hamden seems to have struck a streak of real hard luck. Last week his minstrel company disbanded and the senator was out all the money he had put in that enterprise. This week on Thursday E. Kaiser, proprietor of the Redwood City House, had him arrested for trying to defraud him out of his hotel bill. Though the genial senator was taken to Hotel de Mansfield he was promptly released on $50 bail which was furnished by F. P. Chamberlain and Adolph Plump.

A two weeks' rain would be a blessing.

Our hotels are all full and no vacant dwelling houses in town.

LATEST STYLE?

Marlene Dietrich, movie star, started something when she began going about Hollywood in men's clothing. Other women started following her example and it was the general opinion at the studios that "if all could wear 'em' like Marlene wears 'em' all would be well."

SCOUT FUND CAMPAIGN NEARS

Plans were launched today for the "kickoff" breakfast in the annual Boy Scout fund solicitation campaign following the election of executive officers for 1933.

Z. T. Thorning of Redwood City was re-elected chairman of the Southern San Mateo county division of Boy Scouts. Vice chairmanship and court of honor duties went to James D. Hedge, and J. E. Morrish and Edward T. Harrison were elected to handle the finance campaign.

Other chairmanships went to Sam H. Winkbleck, publicity; Carl Stoner, camping, in which he will be assisted by Fire Warden Bert Werder; Clifton Woodhams, organization and extension; Howard Wood, civic service, and John Gill, leadership and training.

Members at large include Merritt Hosmer and Porter Hefflin, San Carlos; Lowry Howard, Ray Pryor and Earl Hook, Menlo Park; John E. Farrell, Atherton, and Guy Kennedy, Kendall Towne, Frank Griffin and George McQueen, Redwood City.

Morrish announces the "kick-off" breakfast for Tuesday, February 7, at 7:30 a. m. He invites the presence of all members consists of 35 leading citizens of Redwood City.

Optimism was expressed by Morrish that the Southern district (Belmont, Redwood City, San Carlos, Woodside, Atherton and Menlo Park) would respond to the fund call. The sum of $1,500 will be needed by the scouts to carry on their youth-building activities.

Harbor Cost Appeal Gets Official O. K.

The San Mateo county harbor committee, at a meeting in San Mateo Tuesday, authorized Chairman Carl Stoner of Redwood City to proceed with the plan to request the federal government to stand all the cost of dredging a channel and turning basin for a deep water port here.

The chairman was empowered to appoint a committee to draft the appeal, which, if successful, will oblige the government to stand the entire cost, estimated at $188,000. The government has recommended that local interests bear half the cost, or $94,000.

The motion was made by P. J. Shaw, of South San Francisco, and seconded by Daniel R. Stafford of Redwood City.

City Attorney Albert Mansfield of Redwood City explained in detail the provisions of the bill which he wrote, and which was passed at the last legislature, to enable a city, a city and part of a county, or an entire county to establish a port district.

Capt. Victor Harding, secretary to Congressman-elect John J. McGrath, was present at the meeting, which was held in the city hall.

SUPERVISOR KIN WINS SUIT

After being thrice polled, a jury in Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt's court today had refused the $25,000 damages asked by Stanley Bellevue, for 20 years an army horsehoer, in a libel action against Dennis C. Brown, San Mateo horsehoer and brother-in-law of Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown.

The action, filed July 8, 1931, was based on a letter written by Brown to Bellevue's superiors at the Presidio in San Francisco, in May, 1931, allegedly insinuating that Bellevue was using government supplies in competing with private citizens in the horsehoing trade.

When Foreman Walter C. Johnson read the verdict of "not guilty," counsel for Bellevue asked that the jury be polled. The vote in favor of sustaining the verdict was 7 to 5. This was two votes short of enough to make it valid.

Believing that the jury misunderstood, Judge McNutt asked another poll. It then stood 8 to 4. This was still one vote short. A third poll was then taken, and a vote of 9 to 3 was recorded. The verdict was then recorded. An appeal is expected to follow on the jury's verdict.

Tax Appraiser's Appointment Is Confirmed Here

Confirming reports printed exclusively in The Tribune of Saturday, notice of the appointment of Bradford M. Melvin of Hillsborough as an inheritance tax appraiser for San Mateo county was filed today with County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman.

The appointment was made Friday night by Ray L. Riley, state comptroller.

H. C. Tuchsien and H. W. Schaberg, both of Redwood City, continue in their duties as appraisers.

New Gold Mill Demonstrated In Menlo Park

The "airway gold mill" declared by its developers, a group of Menlo Park men, to revolutionize the milling of ore, was given its first public demonstration in Menlo Park today before mining men interested in the invention.

Increased efficiency in the grinding of mineral ore and the elimination of the need for a stamp mill are two of the claims made for the new machine. Included in the group sponsoring its development are K. L. Martin, Bert J. Mehl, J. E. B. Hoss and Manuel Romero. Romero has been the technician in working out the design of the mill, for which patents are now pending.

Centrifugal force is the key which enables this mill to smash six-inch chunks of ore into fine dust at a rapid rate. On the present model 12 hammers are attached to the center shaft, each weighing four pounds and made of manganese steel. Six hundred blows a second are given by these hammers to the ore dumped into the hopper. The centrifugal force created automatically throws the ground-up ore dust out through a screen.

A one-ton-an-hour capacity is claimed with the use of 80-mesh screen, and three tons for the coarser 20-mesh screen. The mill may be run either wet or dry. Complete without the engine necessary to run it, the mill weighs only 400 pounds and does not need to be firmly set because of the lack of vibration.

The present model is the second to be constructed since work was first commenced upon its development last May. The first one successfully ground up more than 100 tons of ore in operating tests, according to the group.

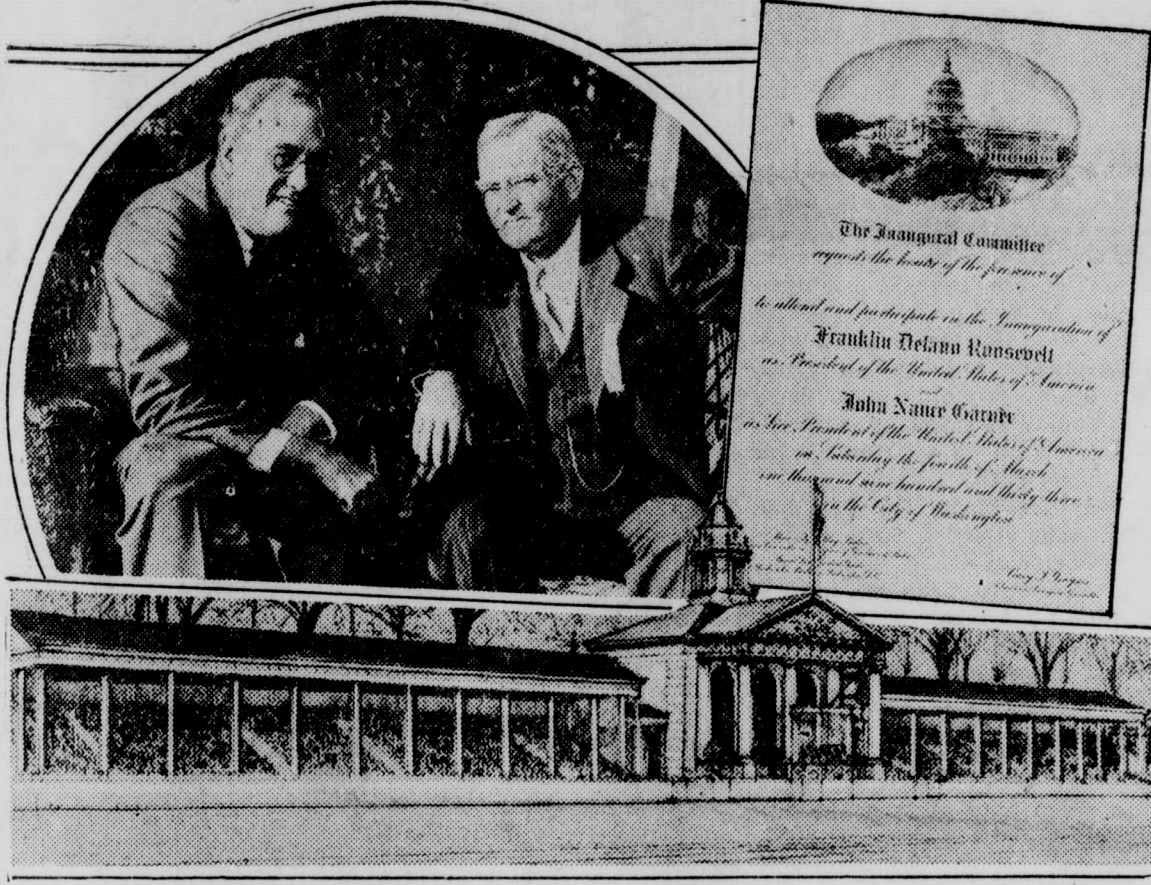

The machine is made practical, it is declared, through the use of a new type of bearing, which can be kept free from the entrance of water or ore dust. Without it the high speeds at which the shaft and hammers must be rotated would be impossible.

The idea for the mill's invention came from a previous grinding machine invented by Romero.

Co. Clerk's Father Lies Gravely Ill

Leroy Burlingame Hinman, father of County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman, is seriously ill in a Santa Clara county hospital after suffering a stroke yesterday. He has been unconscious since the stroke. He was 83 years old on January 25.

Mr. Hinman's mother, Mrs. Alice Brown Hinman, who is at the Hinman home here, is recovering from an illness.

Came Across Plains

The elder Hinman came across the plains in an immigrant wagon train from his birthplace in Illinois at the age of four. The parents halted at Sacramento. His father was the Rev. J. M. Hinman, pioneer Methodist minister of California, and he also was at one time in the ministry.

The county clerk's father gave up the ministry because of his health and went into the grocery business in Sacramento, where he was established for about 20 years. He was a one-time director of the Fort Sutter Bank of Sacramento.

Kin of Burlingame

The elder Mr. Hinman's middle name of "Burlingame" came from Anson Burlingame, his uncle, after whom the city of Burlingame was named. Mr. Burlingame was the first minister to China, and negotiated the first commercial treaty with that nation.

Leroy Hinman has spent the past 10 years of his life in Redwood City with his wife. His wife was one of the first white babies born in the Sacramento valley. She was born at Fremont in 1857.

The elder Hinman has two other sons, B. L. Hinman of Sacramento and G. J. Hinman of La Porte, Plumas county, and two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Musladin of San Francisco and Mrs. Betsy Howson of Berkeley.

Barter Committees Hold Meeting Here

The Back-to-Barter movement, in which representatives of the Hillview district met with a Lions Club committee at Hotel Sequoia Monday, now awaits the co-operation of persons desiring to exchange goods for labor, and the establishment of a central distributing place.

Need for an index of the wants of people willing to co-operate was expressed. A general meeting of the Hillview Homebush Club will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Anthony Ippolito residence, Santa Clara and Randolph avenues.

Lions present at Monday's meeting were William B. Curran, Dr. A. J. Fromm, Thomas Cutting, Louis Jenkins and Chief of Police Edward Farrell of Atherton.

From the Hillview district were John Reuter, Joseph Wright, Henry Frohm, Ed. Welsh and H. H. Eaton.

Schools Helping to Bring Costs Down, Says Educator

Refuting the charge that educational institutions have not been willing to stand their share of losses by decreasing their costs during the depression, Willard A. Givens, superintendent of the Oakland school system, said in a talk at Stanford University last night that the schools of California have saved the local taxpayers of the state $52,000,000 during the last two years by decreasing their budgets.

At the same time, he said, the state administration spent the $31,000,000 left by preceding governors and in addition is facing a deficit of $9,500,000 for the last biennium.

Givens, who is president of the California Teachers' Association, explained various school bills now before the legislature in his lecture, presented in the Little Theatre under the auspices of Pi Lambda Theta, educational fraternity.

"Schools are ready to do their share," said Mr. Givens, "but they do not feel called upon to undertake disastrous economies when other departments of government are unwilling to do likewise. If these other agencies will decrease their expenditures, they will find the schools matching them saving for saving."

Utilities Escape

The question of how taxes could be further reduced for overburdened home and farm owners without crippling the efficiency of the state school system was considered by Mr. Givens. Public utilities, classed together, are still paying

Six Girls At Colma 'Stag' Show Booked

Six girl entertainers and the manager of the show were seized during the height of an asserted indecent party in the Lovehagen Garden, Colma, Tuesday night by Sheriff James J. McGrath and deputies.

The affair was assertedly staged by Theodore Williams, 43, one of those arrested.

The entertainers gave the following names on being booked at the county jail here at 10:30 o'clock last night:

Joan La Marr, 24; Ramona Brown, 22; Irene Holt, 23; Ruth Spencer, 24; Mary Jones, 23, and Marie Smith, 21.

All were released on $250 bail at 5:20 o'clock Wednesday. Williams secured his release at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday on $250 cash bail.

McGrath, Undersheriff Lawrence Nieri and Deputy Sheriff Adolph Waldeck broke in on the show and seized the entertainers and the stage manager. About 300 persons were present at the stag affair.

Williams was charged in a complaint prepared by District Attorney Edmund Scott, office and signed by McGrath with procuring, conducting and assisting in the presentation of an "indecent exposure," and the girls were charged with "indecent exposure" and "vagrancy."

They will appear before Justice of the Peace Ellis Johnson in Daly City.

NEW GRAND JURY LIST ANNOUNCED

Judge Swart Reveals
Over 1000 Sought
Appointment

IGNORED PLEAS

Also Rejected Names
Suggested to Him
By Politicians

Ignoring a thousand applicants, Superior Judge Franklin Swart today selected 30 prospective jurors for the year 1933.

Nineteen of these will be drawn soon to form the 1933-34 grand jury, organization of which so closely on the heels of the retirement of the old jury will mark an innovation in county history.

Over 1,000 persons applied for the job, Judge Swart revealed, but none who sought the position and none recommended by politicians or others "made the grade" on the new jury.

The new jury will be in session throughout the year, and will meet at least once a month under the new plan. This will place the jury in a position to keep in constant contact with county affairs. This feature, with prospects of considerable employment during the year at $3 per day, was believed the outstanding cause for the huge number of applicants for the job.

Ignored Pleas

Judge Swart in refusing to heed the suggestions for appointments or to give attention to the requests of individuals said that he wanted the jury to be the strongest possible body of citizens and not merely "a jury of job hunters."

The jurist does not believe that the monthly meeting plan will increase the cost of the jury, but rather believes it will greatly reduce the present cost. A jury in a large county, he found, had cost only $800 compared to about $2500 in this county.

Three From R. C.

Redwood City placed three prospective jurors on the list in the persons of Edward T. Harrison, local banker; Essie Zimmerman, 142 Stambaugh street, and John E. McCarthy, 50 Hudson street.

Others included:

Menlo Park—Adrian F. Ward. Atherton—Matthew Harris. Belmont—Catherine Heatsner. East Palo Alto—Louise Martinelli.

Burlingame—Sydney S. Bibbero, Herbert Harris, Christine Atwater, Chris J. Helin, Loretha Knickerbocker, John Tunncliffe, Anna Cheney.

San Mateo—P. A. Oliver, C. W. Parsons, Martin Poss, A. A. Rochem, Edward Brady, William Eustice, C. E. Jared, James Mulryan, Hillsborough—Caroline Farless.

Moss Beach—Gertrude C. Kynne. San Bruno—Joshua D. Maule. Lomita—Beatrice Decker. Daly City—Grace L. Tallmadge, Edward Rider.

South San Francisco—Thomas C. Connolly, Jessie Adler.

Probation for Two Years Is Granted Youth

Frank Molarius, 19, who was charged recently with theft of a cow, obtained his freedom on two years' probation in the court of Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt tonight after being admonished not to "fool around with other people's calves." He must report regularly to Probation Officer Francis Robinson.

An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted today by Superior Judge Franklin Swart to Mrs. Marion S. Christie from James F. Christie and custody of their son, Richard, nearly 2.

New Signs Put On Food Boxes To Jog Memory

Have you forgotten anything? That is the "catch line" on new signs being placed today on The Tribune's Give-a-can-if-you-can boxes which are located in various food stores throughout the city.

Cans and packages of food dropped into these boxes are distributed to needy local families who have no other means of help. The boxes are in the stores through the courtesy of co-operating merchants.

The Exchange Club Tuesday decided to have a box at each meeting, and every member will bring something to put in it.

ROLPH MAY GET SENATORSHIP IF JOHNSON GOES TO CABINET

Reports come from Washington to the effect that Senator Hiram Johnson is likely to be appointed to a seat in the Roosevelt cabinet. It is said that Senator Johnson has the matter under consideration. Should he accept there would be a vacancy in the senate from California. This would cause some commotion in political circles in the state.

It is said that Governor Rolph would seek the appointment. He could be appointed, for Senator Johnson himself established the precedent 16 years ago when he was governor. There was no lieutenant-governor at that time, for the elected official died a short time before. Johnson appointed Mr. Stephen, then a congressman from Southern California, as lieutenant-governor. Shortly afterward, Johnson resigned as governor and was immediately appointed United States senator by the new official.

Before these proceedings could take place, the law had to be changed. According to the old statute, no governor could be chosen senator during his term of office. In the old days it was customary for a governor to appoint himself senator should a vacancy occur during his term.

In 1860, Milton S. Latham was elected governor and two days afterwards selected himself as senator to take the place of the successor to David Broderick, who was killed in a duel by David Terry, near Colma.

Merriam, the lieutenant-governor, would appoint Rolph and Merriam would become governor.

Two years hence, S. M. Shortridge may elect to become senator again and no doubt he could then be elected.

Leaving six single page notes scribbled on a tablet while he awaited death, Asa B. Hughes, about 56, Stanford Park carpenter, on Tuesday committed suicide by inhaling the carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust pipe of his automobile.

The notes, with one exception, were not addressed to anyone in particular. The addressed note asked Police Chief Frank Love of Menlo Park to "give what is left of me to the doctors."

The incoherent and nearly undecipherable notes found in the automobile beside the body by Deputy Sheriff John T. Simpkin of Sheriff James J. Amount of Milk With Vegetarian Diet Discussed

"Since the depression many families have sought to experiment with their diet in order to economize and to enjoy a greater variety of foods," W. F. Cordes, president of the Marin-Dell Milk Company declares. "Many of these families have tried a vegetarian diet, and have asked our laboratory staff frequently how much milk should be used in such a diet."

"We have told them that the need for milk with a vegetarian diet would be both for its protein and for the calcium it would supply. To fully meet the body protein requirements from milk alone would require about five pints a day. But this does not all need to come from the milk, even on a vegetarian diet. Since vegetables and especially the leafy sorts, as well as peas and beans, are quite rich in protein, one does not have to depend on milk exclusively for the necessary protein. Bread and cereals are also moderately good sources of protein. Fruits are low in protein and sugars and fats contain no protein.

"For a mixed vegetarian diet containing all the above foods, we always advise a quart of milk a day. If the diet contains relatively large proportions of vegetables, the quantity of milk could be safely cut to a pint and a half, or even a pint."

"On the other hand, should the diet consist largely of fruits and sugars, it would be better if more than a quart of milk per day were used."

Stanford Falls To Sixth Place In College Rich

Stanford University is sixth among the richest endowed colleges of the world, having fallen from the first place it held when first founded by the late Senator Leland Stanford, Almon E. Roth, comptroller of Stanford University, told the students at an assembly Wednesday to lay before them the facts concerning Stanford's finances.

The university is now 20th in endowments per student. Roth told the students that it will be impossible for the university to reduce the tuition rates at this time because this is the source of 33 per cent of the school's income.

The student registrations have shown a decrease and the university will suffer a loss of $22,000 from its securities this year. The ranches owned by Stanford are expected to bring an income of $28,000.

Roth said the endowments have held up well during the trying years through which the university has passed, principally because the university is not allowed to hold stocks.

The university feels the lack of funds for scholarships, Roth said.

Hillsborough Heiress Weds Hellman Scion

Marco F. Hellman, scion of a pioneer banking family of San Francisco, and Miss Ruth Koshland, of Hillsborough, were married in New York on Saturday. News of the marriage caused a flurry in San Francisco and peninsula society circles. They were to have awaited the return of Mr. Hellman's mother, Mrs. Isaias W. Hellman, who is now on a world cruise.

Miss Koshland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Koshland, formerly of Boston, who are making their home in Hillsborough, is a niece of Mrs. Jesse Colman, wife of the supervisor; a sister of Mrs. Frederick Ehrman and a granddaughter of Mrs. Leon Guggenheim.

She has an aviation license, won by training at a San Mateo flying school, and is known among the peninsula horse show enthusiasts as an equestrian of rare skill.

Marco Hellman is the son of the late Isaias W. Hellman and grandson of I. W. Hellman Sr., who was a financial power on the coast when he was head of the Wells Fargo-Nevada National Bank. Marco Hellman, now 25, recently went East to study the inside of the banking business from the New York standpoint. His bride is about 22.
